FLED FROM FIRE

IN NIGHT CLOTHES.

Occupants of Hartford Golf Club With Baby Crossed The Snow in The Cold.

Hartford, Feb. 26.—Fire early yesterday destroyed the Hartford Golf club building located in West Hartford. The outbreak of flames was so sudden that the occupants of the club, the steward, his wife and baby and a number of waiters were forced to flee in their nightclothes.

They crossed the snow in the freezing atmosphere to the caddy house and took refuge there until assistance was provided. An overheated range probably started the fire and the loss is about $50,000.

IN LOCAL MARKETS

Potatoes Are Firmer as Supplies Get Low

EGGS BRING GOOD PRICES

Butter Also Remains Firm—Local Quotations as Well as Those from the Boston Markets.

Barre, Vt., Feb. 26, 1908.

Potatoes are firmer as present supplies are getting low. Eggs bring good prices. Butter is also firm.

Quotations are: Dressed pork—17¢ 7/8c.

Dressed veal—9¢ 9/16c.

Native mutton—12c.

Fowls—15¢ 1/16c.

Fresh eggs—27¢ 2/8c.

Butter—Creamery 31¢ 3/8c, fancy dairy 29¢ 3/8c.

Fancy potatoes—35¢ 6/16c.

IN BOSTON MARKETS.

Eggs Are Rather Uncertain as to Price—Change is Likely.

Boston, Feb. 26.—Eggs have not dropped in the local market yet, but there is a rather uncertain feeling and a sudden change is not unlikely. There were further declines at outside centers yesterday, and the fact that local quotations held up was due to moderate receipts. Fancy eastern and henry eggs are in light supply and there are none too many strictly choice western eggs. Cheese is steady in the lack of large receipts but because of a good demand. Cheese continues quiet, but stocks are steadily diminishing and prices are well maintained.

Quotations follow: Butter—Creamery, extras, Vermont and New Hampshire 32c, northern New York 31 1/2¢ 3/8c, western 31 1/2¢ 3/8c, firsts, northern 29 1/2¢ 3/8c, western 29 1/2¢ 3/8c, eastern creamery, best marks 31c, fair to good 28 1/2¢ 3/8c, storage creamery, extras 30 1/2¢ 3/8c, firsts 28 1/2¢ 3/8c, dairy fancy 29c, common to good 27 1/2¢ 3/8c, western imitation creamery 27 1/2¢ 3/8c, western ladies 26 1/2¢ 3/8c, packing stock 19¢ 2/8c, renovated butter 22¢ 2/8c, boxes and prints 24¢ 3/8c, Cheese—New York twins, fancy 15 1/2¢ 3/8c, fair to good 13 1/2¢ 3/8c, Vermont twins, fancy 13 1/2¢ 3/8c, fair to good, 13¢ 1/4c.

Eggs—Fancy henry 28c, eastern fancy 26c, common to good 26¢ 2/8c, western fancy 25 1/2¢ 3/8c, choice 25c, common to good 22 1/2¢ 3/8c, firsts 15¢ 1/8c, refrigerator stock 14¢ 2/8c.

Note.—The above quotations represent the prices obtained by receivers for wholesale quantities and are not jobbing prices.

RANDOLPH

Brotherhood Had an Interesting Session

—D. H. Morse Speaker.

A very pleasant meeting of the Christian Brotherhood was held in parish house on Monday, with 70 members and invited guests present. D. H. Morse was the speaker for the evening and took for his subject "Practical Education for the boys from a farmer's standpoint" and his address was listened to with great attention. The usual lunch followed, which consisted this time of griddle cakes and maple syrup. In one week from Monday night the Brotherhood will observe ladies' night when W. E. Moody of Northfield, Mass., will address the meeting.

Mrs. S. A. Dean is quite ill with appendicitis, following the grippes.

Scott Blossom of Bethel made a business trip to Randolph on Tuesday.

Mrs. E. L. Marble of Royalton was in town on Monday calling upon friends.

Miss Kate Conolly is assisting at the Buex Printing Co., this week on the town reports.

Miss Ruth Morrill of East Randolph is to be the guest of Mrs. Lyman Rix, her aunt, for two weeks.

News from Dr. and Mrs. Beckman, who went to North Carolina for the winter does not indicate much improvement in the health of the doctor.

Col. Chandler of Brooklyn is in town and on his return will make a trip to Washington when Mr. J. H. Lamson has been invited by him to accompany him.

Miss Mary Lamson left here on Tuesday morning for New York where she will spend some time and from there will go to Washington where she will visit Mrs. Grace Lamson Brooks, after a three week visit may extend farther west.

The circular conference of Congregational churches was held in the Bethany church on Tuesday forenoon and afternoon, at which time the program was furnished by the several ministers and members of the churches. A fair number were in attendance.

The store of the late W. F. Edson was opened to the public on Tuesday and the business will for a time be conducted as formerly. C. F. Stevens will act as administrator till such time as the last will can be probated, which will be about the space of a month when different arrangements may be made.

Life Saving Clothes.

A Norwegian inventor has patented a suit of clothes which will protect its wearer against drowning. The clothes are lined with a nonabsorbent material made of specially prepared vegetable fiber which without being too heavy will effectively hold up the weight of a man in the water. Twelve ounces of the new material will, it is claimed, save a person from sinking. The invention has been tested with favorable results at Christiania. Successful trials were also made with rags made of the same material capable of supporting two persons in the water.

The Deerfield Valley Times' Opinion of the Hyde Park Savings Bank

Ex-Governor Carroll S. Page believes in the liberal use of printer's ink, and as a result the name of Page and the little village of Hyde Park, are household words throughout the civilized world.

Nineteen years ago Mr. Page conceived the idea of a savings bank the prime object of which would be to keep Vermont money in Vermont by investing only in Vermont industries and developing Vermont enterprises.

The idea was a success from the start; people have faith in Mr. Page and his conservative business methods.

This faith has been justified by the fact that in the whole course of its business history the Lamoille County Savings Bank has not lost one dollar on a poor note, nor has it at present a dollar's worth of poor or doubtful paper.

Mr. Page believed the business had greater possibilities, and applied the plan that had won him success in his hide industry to his savings bank idea, and began a liberal campaign of advertising.

This plan drew criticism from certain quarters, but it also drew deposits, and in the six months that have elapsed since this campaign of advertising started nearly a quarter of a million dollars have been added to the deposits of the bank.

The best evidence that a man can do a thing is the fact that he does it. Ex-Governor Page had only to make the people understand that he could invest their money at home, with good security for every loan, and where such security could be personally examined by the bank officials, and the thing was accomplished.

Ex-Governor Page has built up a business in hides that is admitted to be the largest of its kind in the world. He has established a savings bank, that if the present ratio of increase in deposits continue, will make Hyde Park famous for its savings bank as well as its callskins.

He has accomplished both these things in a little village in Northern Vermont, far from the great money centers, far from the realms of "frenzied finance." This could only be accomplished in one way: Carroll Page believes in advertising.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Mr. Bert Wainwright, of the B. C. Whitney's "Isle of Spice" company, says that "every man is an actor." A rhymester on the Denver Republican has expanded the same theme into the following amusing verses:

Smith never faced the footlights' glare
And never heard applause;
His name will never figure as
A cognomen that draws;
But when he calls upon a girl
And whispers low her name,
He's acting out a little part—
He's acting, just the same.

Jones rests all comfy in a seat
Upon a crowded car;
A woman clings to a strap,
And she must travel far;

CHARLES A. PUSEY
As "King Bompoka," in "Isle of Spice," at Barre Opera House, Friday, February 28.

But when he reads so busily
He cannot see this dame,
He's acting out a little part—
He's acting, just the same.

Brown goes to church on Sabbath morn—
Six days he's planned and schemed,
And he has gained much tainted coin
With pledges unredemmed;
And when he puts a gold piece on
The plate and shows no shame,
He's acting out a little part—
He's acting, just the same.

And so it goes, from day to day,
Upon the stage of life;
With little parts that are not true
This play of ours is rife;
And he who swears he never acts,
But always lives the game,
Is acting out a little part—
He's acting, just the same.

The Last Straw.

When a miserable moisture permeates the atmosphere,

And snow with rain is mingled and the skies are gray and drear;

When a solitary robin that was singing on a limb

You know lies frozen somewhere in the wilderness as grim.

When the pitter of the rain is all that breaks the dismal hush

Of the world that has become a vast unbroken sea of slush;

When you shiver all impatient for the mercury to climb,

Then a neighboring piano plays "The Good Old Summer Time."

When you try to grin and bear the treacherous tricks that fate may serve;

Sometimes it only takes a passing word to break your nerve.

You might endure the shivers that come gathering with glee

To issue invitations to the grip R. S. V. P.

You might be philosophic and remark, "The sun somewhere

Is shining"—although what's the good, so long as you're not there?

You might divert your thoughts from curses, calumny and crime

If that piano wouldn't play "The Good Old Summer Time."

—Washington Star.

The Quicker Way.

"There goes a man," observed a steamship agent as he directed attention to a surly looking individual who had just engaged passage for Europe, "whose efforts are devoted to constructing short cuts in business methods and in eliminating all time consuming men and their propositions from his busy existence. He is a man of very few words.

"Some years ago this gentleman crossed the ocean and had a very unpleasant trip. One morning a sympathetic passenger offered him a lemon, expressing a sincere wish that it would give relief.

"The male traveler seized the lemon, buried it closely into the ocean and grew wiser."

"That is a quicker way than the other."
